ANDOVER HAILS NUCLEAR PLANT

This Andover TOWNSMAN Aerial Photo, taken Saturday afternoon exclusively for this newspaper, gives a bird's eye view of the proposed site of the Sylvania-Corning Nuclear Corp. plant. Some 150 acres of the Shattuck farm, including buildings at left, were optioned by the firm. The plant will sit in the area roughly bounded by Route 28 just to right of buildings and River rd., in front of Shattuck property. The Webb land is in the corner made by the junction of Laurel lane and River rd.

Selectmen Call Special Session To Alter Zoning

A special town meeting will be held Jan. 5 at 2 p.m. to clear away a slight zoning change, in preparation for welcoming the Sylvania-Corning Nuclear Corp. to West Andover.

The Selectmen, on advice of a Boston legal firm representing Sylvania, ask that the responsibilities of one board merely be transferred to another in the zoning law. The article, as advertised in this week's TOWNSMAN, will ask that the board of appeals be named in section seven, as amended last March by Articles 70 and 71, rather than the Selectmen or duly authorized appointees.

Although the change does nothing but transfer duties of approving manufacturing from one

Household Furnishings Needed Now

Furniture of most kinds, linens, china and canned goods are urgently needed by the Andover Committee for Hungarian Relief.

Just as the TOWNSMAN neared press time, word was received that the Committee wants donations to furnish two homes — both in this community — and requires practically everything except stoves, refrigerators and beds.

One home, at 52 High st., has been designated as the drop-off spot for all donations. Someone will be at the house after 3 p.m. Saturday and all day Sunday, Monday and Tuesday.

It is now expected that at least one Hungarian family will be brought to Andover next week, although an exact time can not be specified. Monro Leaf, who will sponsor the family for the Committee, and representatives of the (Continued on Page Seven)

Owners To Pay For All Water, Sewer Tieups

All water and sewer connections will be installed by the town, as a result of the Board of Public Works action Monday night.

Property owners will be charged for the work on a footage basis. Engineer Ralph Preble will estimate the cost of each job and the town will accept a deposit in the amount of the estimate. The work will be done following receipt of the deposit.

The board has explained that the best way to be certain of good connections, from the street into the house, is to have town crews do the work. The new system will also make it possible for the water (Continued on Page 19)

PUNCHARD HIGH

By The Press Club

Service Club Christmas Activities

The Service Club of Punchard High School, under the guidance of Miss Frances Collins, a member of the faculty, has been working on Christmas favors for the children in North Reading Sanatorium.

Friday, Dec. 7, the committee was called together and asked to bring in two favors each for these children. On the following Monday, each member had completed his favors. Many attractive and colorful ones were received. Among them were Santa Clauses and other different toys that children enjoy.

The Service Club is based on the idea of doing good for others, and this year at Christmas time, its main project is making and presenting these gifts.

Basketball Begins

With the football season over, we are already well into the basketball season. Coach Kenneth McKiniry put out the final call two weeks ago with many boys responding. Those who "survived" the final cut are: Glenn Williams, Jim Bennett, John Giovinco, Fred Polgreen, Frank Leone, Bert Damon, David Belka, David Best,

Charles Dalton and Captain Bill McCullom.

Punchard plays a 20 game slate this year and their first game is Wednesday afternoon at Melrose at 3:15. The probable starting line-up for the Blue Devils will be: Jim Bennett (f), John Giovinco (f), Bill McCullom (c), Fred Polgreen (g), and Bert Damon (g).

Goldsmith Speaking Contest

The sixty-first annual Goldsmith speaking contest was held Dec. 5 in the Punchard High School auditorium with six students in the high school participating. They were: Mary Dumont and George Connors from the sophomore class; Ruth Neisser and Richard Chase from the junior class; Gail Higgins and James Winters from the senior class.

This event was in charge of Miss Beatrice L. Stevens, head of the English Department, who was assisted by other members of the department. The judges were Mrs. John B. Gould, Mrs. Joseph A. Howard and Mr. William J. Charlton.

While the judges were totaling up their points, a program of music was enjoyed by the assembly. David Hudson, Gail, Carol, and Lorna Maruzzi and Joan Ellen Simeone provided this entertainment.

Ruth Neisser and Richard Chase, both of the Junior class, took top honors. Miss Neisser's selection was "The Creation" by James Weldon Johnson. Mr. Chase gave "The Imaginary Invalid" by Jerome K. Jerome.

Service Club Honored

The Punchard High School Service Club has been informed recently that it is being included in a nation-wide study of the community-service projects of secondary schools, under the direction of a faculty committee of the University of California at Los Angeles (UCLA). The school is being honored because of its having won an award in another nation-wide contest in 1955. The purpose of the study is to develop guidelines to assist schools in conducting these community projects. The Service Club is proud of the opportunity to participate in this survey.

Punchard's Gridders to be Honored

The annual Football Banquet is being held tonight in the Punchard High School Cafeteria in honor of the Blue Devil football players and cheerleaders. This year's lettermen will be announced and the big high light of the evening will be the announcement of next year's captain as voted by the lettermen.

Tickets for this event may be purchased from any member of the team or from Coach Robert McIntyre.

The United Fund in Andover went well over the top, according to Andover Chairman Stallard Lindsay.

NEED HOUSEHOLD FURNISHINGS

International Institute, will go to New Jersey Sunday and try to arrange for some 10 Hungarian families for the Greater Lawrence area. They may be able to bring the families back with them the early part of the week, although government and service agency channels have not yet been followed fully. If the group can obtain a release for the families, they will telephone here for added cars to make the trip to New Jersey Monday, or arrange for them on whatever day the authorities can specify.

With some lingering doubt as to the date when the first house must be furnished completely, the Committee decided that contributions should be requested even though the family may be delayed by a few days in arriving.

They need bureaus, linens, lamps, tables of all kinds, chairs, china and canned goods. Silverware is needed as are nearly every kind of kitchen utensil.

The seven-room house must be furnished in time to receive the family if it arrives here late Monday or Tuesday, the Committee feels.

Mrs. George Brown will receive calls between 8-10 a.m. and 6-8 p.m. from anyone with donations to be picked up.

But the Committee has asked that anyone who can bring their contribution to 52 High st. do so.

Furniture and other goods not used to furnish that home will be needed to equip the second house. The Committee has said it has enough rugs and enough blankets. A stove and refrigerator have been secured and there are plenty of beds on hand. Practically any other item found in a normal household is needed, however.

Gilbert Bamford New P.A. Captain

Gilbert H. Bamford, 221 Sutton st., No. Andover, has been elected captain of the Phillips Academy football team.

The election was announced at last night's sports banquet. Also announced were the election of Manager Nicholas J. Nicholas Jr. of Portsmouth, N. H.; Lewis Van Amerongen of Plandome, N. Y. as soccer captain and Michael E. Batten of Racine, Wis., as manager of that team.

Chris Wadsworth of Winchester was elected captain of the cross country team. Charles D. Burnside of Ohio was named manager.

Watch and Wait Is Only Thing We Could Do

Sylvania's announcement Monday that a West Andover site had been selected, and options taken, ended many weeks of anxious waiting in the TOWNSMAN office.

Although the first news story, announcing that Andover was under serious consideration, appeared in this newspaper, there had been many days of patient but watchful waiting prior to that time.

When the TOWNSMAN was given the official green-light to announce Sylvania's interest here, it did so with the understanding that complete and factual statements from the Sylvania officials involved would be used, without speculation.

Then followed more days and weeks of waiting for official announcements. The story seemed about to "break" several times but each time it was held up when negotiations seemed temporarily doomed to failure. Knowing that premature newspaper stories have sometimes "killed" industrial plans before they reached maturity, every care was given to use only such information as had been officially stated, in order to avoid interfering in any way with successful completion of the negotiations.

Thus it is with a sense of relief that we very happily this week carry the firm's announcement and extend our own "welcome" to the Sylvania-Corning Nuclear Corp.

Civic and educational leaders gathered last week to begin discussions on the proposal that Andover install educational television. Moderator G. Arthur Danforth, with back to camera, took the chair after School Committee Secretary William Doherty opened the session. The group discussed general problems and agreed to appoint sub-committees to study various phases of educational TV. (Leone)

This machine, capable of exerting 150 tons of pressure, is used to shape atomic fuel elements at a Sylvania Atomic Energy Division facility. Similar Machinery presumably will be used in the Sylvania-Corning Plant here. An atomic fuel plate is being placed prior to shaping by the "power brake." There are many fuel-element shapes, depending upon the type of reactor for which they have been designed. After shaping, fuel plates are assembled to form the final fuel element.

A preliminary sketch shows the Nuclear fuel center, which would concentrate on the development and production of nuclear fuel elements and components. Its five buildings would have more than 150,000 square feet of floor space. Building "1" would be the 75,000-square-foot production facility; Building "2" would be the 40,000-square-foot, two-story, advanced engineering laboratory; and Building "3", the 22,000-square-foot administration building, would house offices and employee services, including a large cafeteria. Building "4" would be the 10,000-square-foot pilot production facility; and Building "5", the 5,000-square-foot service building, would provide maintenance activities and supporting functions for the entire operation.

board to another, town officials stressed that a quorum must be present at the Saturday afternoon session because the change is of paramount importance in definitely securing the nuclear fuel research center. A hearing on the change will be held by the Planning Board, as required by law, Dec. 27 at 8 p.m. in the Central School Auditorium.

Townpeople Happy

The announcement Monday that Sylvania Electric Co. had taken options on 150 acres belonging to Catherine Shattuck and 10 acres owned by David Webb was happily received by residents and town officials.

The combined nuclear research activities of the Sylvania firm and the Corning Glass Works will be housed in a plant of five buildings on the West Andover site. Walter E. Kingston, General Manager of Sylvania's atomic energy division, stressed that nothing will be done at the plant that could cause even the smallest atomic explosion.

The center for research and production may be valued at close to 20 million dollars within a few years although company spokesmen declined to name a specific initial value except in terms of "multi-million dollar" valuation. 300 up to 1000

Initially, 300 persons will be employed when the plant begins operations in 1958 — one-third being engineers and professional trained personnel. Within five years employment will reach 20 to 1000, mostly skilled craftsmen from this area. One-half of the initial force will come here from the Sylvania and Corning plants.

Selection of Andover as a site for this project won immediate praise from industrial leaders gathered at the Andover Inn from a noted MIT educator and scientist. The Boston Chamber of Commerce extended its congratulations to Andover and to the entire area.

Townsmen First

TOWNSMAN readers were first to learn, in the issue of Nov. 15, that Andover was being more than casually considered as a site for the nuclear fuel center. At that time representatives of the Sylvania firm stated that serious consideration was being given to town. And at the same time R. M. Bradley company, it was learned and reported, was carrying out both extensive studies of the immediate area and negotiations with property owners.

Selection of Andover for the pioneering project was based in large part on the type of town its citizens and its municipal structure.

White Gets Credit

Receiving a large share of credit at the meeting Monday was Selectman Sidney P. White, who was introduced as the man whose energy, ability and vision were largely responsible for the final decision to come here.

They Like Andover

In the words of Mr. Kingston, "We prefer Andover because we have the factors needed by an industry such as ours — good transportation and utility services, fine public health and safety record, and other prime necessities. But the deciding factor is a town where the people, in a town where they are intelligent, alert, progressive minded people, the other characteristics of a good community are there too. As we all know, Andover holds particular distinction for its educational institutions, and its cultural environment, its living conditions and these are very important to us. These are vital factors, because primarily what we want to bring to Andover is people, including many professional and

Welcome, Sylvania - Corning

We are proud to join our town officials and hundreds of happy citizens in extending a welcome to the Sylvania-Corning Nuclear Corp.

The newspaper has, from time to time, extolled the merits of industry — as a means of broadening the tax base and as a method of attracting added payroll dollars. We, along with most residents, never expected to witness the coming of a concern that has as much potential as this one does. Thus we are even happier to add our voice to the many already saying "welcome" to this progressive new firm.

We are certain that our relations, as a community, with the firm will be pleasant and that an atmosphere of complete cooperation and harmony will make our co-existence a peaceful and rewarding thing.

Our congratulations should go, for his efforts in working out the many problems before this firm could purchase property here, to Sidney White. Although many local men had large parts to play in the effort, his, we understand, was one of the key roles and he undertook it with enthusiasm and ability.

Letters To The Editor

In adjacent news columns this week we are glad to print a letter from a Fletcher st. resident who disagrees with us about the Acme Concrete Company's operation at the foot of that street.

We'd like to take this opportunity to remind all our readers that we are happy to have and to print letters to the editor, whether they agree with us or not.

Garbage Collection Study

A new committee has been appointed, at the direction of the town meeting, to study the practicality of collecting garbage through a municipal, rather than a private, effort.

We realize that there are many arguments on both sides of that question — and that municipal garbage collection has been debated over the years. It is certain that the committee appointed by the moderator will make a thorough study and come up with fair recommendations.

What Our Readers Say—

To the Editor of the Townsman:
"I have read your editorial captioned 'Acme Case In Court Hands', in the Andover Townsman under date of Nov. 29, 1956.

"This article as written, obviously, is critical of the attitude of the residents of Fletcher st., and the conduct of their children as it pertains to the operations of the Acme Concrete Company. In my opinion, this criticism is unwarranted and unjustified.

"At the most recent meeting of the Board of Selectmen, when this Acme situation was again discussed, David Nicoll, Chief of the Andover Police Department, stated that the residents of the street were cooperating with town officials, and did not make any criticism of the children's conduct. He did, however, point out that an unusually dangerous situation was prevalent created by the number and type of trucks operated by the Company, and went on further to say that if a child were involved in an accident caused by one of these extremely heavy trucks, that it would undoubtedly be of a very serious nature, and he hoped and expected everyone to be extra cautious.

"The editorial further states that 'a better spirit would be shown if both the residents, the town, and the firm decided to co-operate rather than fight'. Everyone, aware of the background of this situation, knows that the town officials and the residents have been very patient and co-operative; but I raise this question. Has the Acme Concrete Company been cooperative?

"The basic issue in this case is not whether 'to have the firm's right to operate the contractor's yard suspended'. Actually, the issue is whether or not the firm is manufacturing concrete. You must remember that the Company originally applied for a permit to operate a contractor's yard which was granted to them by the proper authority. In my opinion, they had no intention to operate a contractor's yard as such, but were attempting to locate an industry whose purpose was to manufacture concrete to be delivered in trucks. The Company was advised by presumably capable council, that it would be necessary for them to get permission from the Board of Appeals to manufacture said concrete, and as we all know, such permission was denied for many reasons. Since the time that the decision was rendered by the Board of Appeals denying such a permit, this Company, in complete defiance of the Board's decision and in a spirit certainly lacking cooperation, took the position that they were not actually manufacturing, and went right ahead operating in a way that they originally felt permission from the Board was necessary. It seems ridiculous to me that the Acme people as of today, take the position that they are operating because they did not feel permission was necessary in the first place. This is subterfuge to say the least.

"I raise the question now as in the past, as to why the Acme Company applied for permission in the first instance, and then having been denied this, justify their operations claiming permission was not originally necessary. Again I ask if this type of conduct falls in the category of 'cooperation'?"

"Inasmuch as the article referred to was written as an editorial, and presumably read by many people, and contained criticism directed at the wrong source, I hope that you will in some way let the same readers of this article know how the writer feels."

The beautiful home of M. F. D'Arcy in the Scotland district was completely destroyed by fire last Saturday evening, with a loss estimated at $30,000. The house was one of the most modern and spacious residences in the town. A double alarm was sounded, calling all available men and apparatus from the Central and Ballardvale stations.

Whistling has been stopped at the Essex st. crossing. The State Department of Public Utilities has ordered that no train sound its whistle at the crossing as long as the railroad maintains a gateman and gates at the crossing. Sunday night should be the final whistle, as all conductors and trainmen will have been notified by Monday morning.

The Finance Committee has written all department heads asking for a 10 percent cut in all budgets. Where the cut will be made was left up to the various departments but it is considered unlikely that salaries will suffer unless all department heads agree to cut them. The Committee explained that less money will come back from the state next year while taxes payable both to the state and county will increase.

A fire in a garage at the corner of Salem st. and Prospect Hill rd. badly damaged an automobile and the garage itself Sunday night. The Fire Department blamed a short circuit for the blaze.

The state has changed its mind again about the road from the Pass to Phillips Academy. Now the Department of Public Works has announced a call for bids for a 34-foot, dual-type road that will have two lanes of cement and middle lane of macadam, with two-foot shoulder on each side. Last week the state announced a change from the same type as the By-Pass to a three-lane macadam road. Many bitter protests followed and Selectman Frank Hardy carried them to the state house, where he was successful in having a change made.

A chlorinator has been installed at Haggett's Pond, after the Board of Public Works and Finance Committee agreed that some safeguards should be taken to insure safe water supply for the town. The money, $850, was taken from the reserve fund although the groups emphasized that the water has not been polluted and that no emergency exists.

Although there have been no demands on the Welfare Department this year, less money has been spent to date than at the same period last year. Officials explain that private citizens and groups have come forward year to year to help others, thus less in the load on the town.

The Andover Police Association, a going association since 1925, has disbanded. Meeting Thursday the association voted to divide the funds. It has been explained that the Association now includes men who are not police officers and that any future organization will be for active officers only.

AVIS Progress Shown At Meeting

One of the most active years in the history was recorded by the Andover Village Improvement Society, according to reports heard at its annual meeting.

One of the most pressing pieces of AVIS business received attention at the session — with a request that the Legislature is being asked to amend the charter to allow the society to acquire land for conservation purposes.

Chairman Harold Rafton, who first suggested that the society take on a five-point program for the conservation of land in the town, reported on progress. He listed the following five-point program as being recommended by his committee:

Cooperate with the town Planning Board;

Do educational work on the project;

Determine ownership of some desirable parcels of land;

Approach owners about possible acquisition and determine prices;

Find out what action the Planning Board will take at March town meeting.

There was considerable discussion of the Planning Board's possible acceptance of the "green belt" proposal by its consultants and how the society could best work in conjunction with that plan or add to it.

Other society reports indicated that considerable work has been done to beautify the Park in front of Punchard High School. Heinrich Rhrbach reported that much work has also been done at the "Boulders" near the railroad station. In both places, trees that

Mrs. Walter Kellogg reported for the Indian Ridge Reservation Committee. She told members that the Andover Garden Club and the Junior Garden Club may develop a spot on the reservation.

Before the reports were given, the society heard an interesting and informative discussion by Miss Bessie Goldsmith. She related stories of early Andover and the history of the society in those days.

WARM, WINTER CLOTHING MAY BE GIVEN THIS WEEK

The clothing drive for Hungarian relief is continuing this week, under the sponsorship of the Andover Committee for Hungarian Relief.

Warm winter clothing is being solicited and will be sent to Philadelphia where the American Friends Society will take over shipping and distribution.

Clothing suitable for the winter weather will be accepted at 4 Pynchard ave. — the Red Cross headquarters — or at the Fire Station. A telephone call to 62 or 3184 will, for those who lack transportation, bring a messenger to pick up the clothing, the committee explained.

Resembling a large stovepipe, the afterburner is similar to another complete engine attached to the exhaust of the airplane's jet engine. In the afterburner, additional fuel is injected into the hot exhaust gas from the jet engine and, mixed with the un-burned oxygen in the exhaust, is ignited and burned. The temperature and velocity of the exhaust jet is thus greatly increased to provide additional power to the main engine. As severe conditions of temperature and stress are encountered, wrought high nickel alloys with good strength at elevated temperatures and resistance to oxidation are employed for the outer shell

A strip of uranium-aluminum alloy completes one of many passes through a rolling mill in an important stage of atomic fuel fabrication at a Sylvania Atomic Energy Division facility. In the operation above, after the proper thickness has been achieved, small sections of the alloy will be cut off for fuel "cores". These will be "sandwiched" between cover plates of aluminum or other metal and further rolled to achieve the proper fuel-plate dimensions. Similar processes will be used at the Sylvania-Corning plant here.

Kingston also explained that Sylvania looks on its various divisions as essentially local businesses. "Though the influence of this new facility will be national and even international", he continued, "we prefer Andover for our new operation because it would be a good place to have a local business."

Good Corporate Citizen

Commenting on the proposed project here, Kingston continued: "This new facility and its people would, of course, bring economic benefits to the area through increased payrolls, taxes and other gains. But once again I would like to stress the most important aspect — and the most intangible — the arrival of a good corporate citizen, whose philosophy is based on the fact that the plant's future and the community's are inseparable — the progress of one means progress for the other.

"We would be bringing good people to a good community to work in good facilities on the newest and most promising product in the world — atomic energy for peaceful purposes. Now let me tell you what we would not bring to Andover.

No Danger

"Our facility will not be working with materials or products which could constitute any sort of hazard, radioactive or otherwise, to this community. We will not be working with materials for the atomic weapons program and we will not be working on constructing, assembling or operating atomic reactors themselves. There is no possibility of anything causing even the smallest type of atomic explosion."

Kingston described the work as the producing, from research, of nuclear fuels and component parts for reactors. This is the "heart" of the atomic energy business, he explained, because other firms, such as the Yankee Atomic Energy company needs the fuel and parts for reactors in its efforts to generate electricity through use of atomic energy. Several types of nuclear fuel were displayed at the session.

Type of Buildings

The plant where this work will be done will include five buildings with a total of 150,000 square feet. "They would be designed and equipped to make the most effective use of the reservoir of outstanding scientific and engineering skills being brought together in the Sylvania-Corning joint enterprise."

The buildings will include facilities for manufacturing, pilot production, advanced engineering, sales and administration, built in a campus-style arrangement and landscaped.

During the luncheon meeting, various speakers pointed out that this area should become the center for other firms who are expanding their nuclear activity. Its closeness to MIT and other leading research centers also was hailed as a major step toward further and closer cooperation between the university and industry.

Other Speakers

Besides Kingston, George W. Griffin, public relations director for Sylvania, acted as master of ceremonies; and the speakers were W. Benton Harrison, vice president-finance of Sylvania; Irwin L. Moore, president of the New England Electric System; William Webster, president of the Yankee Atomic Electric Co.; Sidney White, chairman of the Board of Selectmen; S. Bruce Black, representing the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and Professor Morris Cohen of MIT.

Beta Sigma Phi Holds Initiation

The Initiation of the Beta Mu, Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi of Andover, was held recently in the Andover Inn. Mrs. Mary Lee Prochazka, president, officiated during the pledge ceremony for Mrs. Alice Anderson, Mrs. Mary Clukey and Mrs. Mary Kerwin; also for the Ritual of Jewels ceremony for Mrs. Cecile McCarthy and Mrs. Ida Pizzano.

Mrs. Prochazka was assisted by Mrs. Harriet Eastman, vice-president; Mrs. Vita Marjerison, recording secretary; Mrs. Gloria Lyons, corresponding secretary and Mrs. Libby Ainscow, treasurer. The table was decorated with the official colors of Beta Sigma Phi — black and gold and the official flower, a yellow rose. The centerpiece consisted of a low arrangement of yellow roses flanked by a quartet of long black tapers in gold candlesticks. The organization shield was prominently displayed.

A corsage of yellow roses was presented to the sponsor of the chapter, Mrs. Mildred Best. Mrs. Alice Anderson was the winner of the floral centerpiece. Refreshments were served during the social that followed.

Members present were Mrs. Lee Prochazka, Mrs. Harriet Eastman, Mrs. Vita Marjerison, Mrs. Libby Ainscow, Mrs. Gloria Lyons, Mrs. Emily Becker, Mrs. Jean Robertson, Mrs. Mary Clukey, Mrs. Mary Kerwin, Mrs. Alice Anderson, Mrs. Beverly Gower, Mrs. Cecile McCarthy and Mrs. Ida Pizzano.

Will Ask Study Of Off-Street Parking

The Planning Board has agreed to ask its consultants about increasing off-street parking in the downtown area.

At a recent joint meeting of officials and boards, the problem of improving parking facilities in Park st. were discussed. Selman Stafford Lindsay told a group that an owner of property on that street was contacted and selling some property that would lend itself to parking — but said the owner was not interested except at a high price.

Some discussion of the problem and conjecture as to how the townspeople may be willing to spend to increase parking facilities and increase the shopping area — followed. Merchants have suggested better parking facilities be provided while there also has been considerable debate about cramped business section and the lack of office space.

Clothing, Fur For Hungarians

Andover residents may now contribute towards the rehabilitation of Hungarian families who will be settled in the Greater Lawrence community.

Even as the Andover Committee for Hungarian Relief continued its work towards establishing one family here in town, a committee of Greater Lawrence citizens, headed by Mrs. Dean K. Webster Jr., announced its plans to support the families.

Money given to that committee will be used in this area until the need has been met, according to Selma Stafford Lindsay, who serves on the steering committee. He said containers for cash donations will be placed in all Andover banks, while checks may be made out to the "Greater Lawrence Hungarian Relief Association" and mailed to Treasurer Alfred Coughman, City Hall, Lawrence. The Association has also said it will have containers placed in business houses throughout Greater Lawrence to receive the gifts of citizens in the area.

Have One House

The Greater Lawrence Association will support the work of the Andover Committee when and if help is needed. Mrs. Alfred Fuller announced this week, however, that a house has already been secured for the first family. It is at 52 High st. Committee members and friends are already planning to do work clothes this Saturday to put the home ready for the Hungarian family. There has as yet been no date set for its arrival here.

Arrangements for securing the family are being handled by the International Institute in Lawrence, the official agency for that work in this area. Representatives of the Institute are making the necessary arrangements this week and hope they may be able to complete official paper work and

Clothing, Funds Sought For Hungarian Relief

Andover residents may now contribute towards the rehabilitation of Hungarian families who will be settled in the Greater Lawrence community.

Even as the Andover Committee for Hungarian Relief continued its work towards establishing one family here in town, a committee of Greater Lawrence citizens, headed by Mrs. Dean K. Webster Jr., announced its plans to support incoming families.

Money given to that committee will be used in this area until the need has been met, according to Secretary Stafford Lindsay, who serves on the steering committee. He said containers for cash donations will be placed in all Andover banks, while checks may be made out to the "Greater Lawrence Hungarian Relief Association" and mailed to Treasurer Alfred Courtemanche, City Hall, Lawrence. The Association has also said it will have containers placed in business houses throughout Greater Lawrence to receive the gifts of citizens in the area.

Have One House

That Greater Lawrence Association will support the work of the Andover Committee when and if help is needed. Mrs. Alfred Fuller announced this week, however, that a house has already been secured for the first family. It is at 52 High st. Committee members and friends are already planning to do work clothes this Saturday to get the home ready for the Hungarian family. There has as yet been no date set for its arrival here.

Arrangements for securing the family are being handled by the International Institute in Lawrence, the official agency for that work in this area. Representatives of the Institute are making the necessary arrangements this week and hope they may be able to complete official paper work and processing within 10 days or so.

A representative of the Institute has explained that careful attention is given to the selection of the families — so that they may make the move with as little difficulty as possible. Job opportunities are compared with the employment backgrounds of the refugees, he explained, in an effort to match employment and refugee.

Clothing Drive

The continuing effort here to obtain heavy winter clothing for the refugees, both in this country and in Austria, has met with generous response. However, Mrs. Allan Gillingham has asked individuals or groups to help out with the mending problem. Each item must be carefully inspected and mended if necessary before shipping to the American Friends Service Committee in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Frank Michel and Mrs. James Wilson are responsible for packing the clothing. It will be sent by special van next Wednesday.

Greater Lawrence Group
The Greater Lawrence effort to collect funds is directed by a steering committee. It will hold a general meeting tomorrow night at the YWCA in Lawrence at 7:30 for all interested citizens. Members of that steering group are, in addition to Mrs. Webster and Mr.

Lindsay, Town Clerk John F. Lyons of No. Andover; Mrs. Maxwell Hastings of Methuen, John F. Burke, representing Mayor John J. Buckley of Lawrence; James F. Hennessey, Lawrence Red Cross; Jasper Jako, International Institute; Thomas Killilea, Lions Clubs and Miss Evelyn Stults, YWCA representative.

Red Cross Drive

The Andover Red Cross conducted its drive Wednesday night, with canvassers calling at every home where a porch light had been left burning. The chapter had to meet its quota, assigned by the National Red Cross. The International agency is handling the problem of caring for Hungarians now in Austria at the request of that country's government. It also is trying to get supplies into Hungary, particularly medicines.

Illingworths Will Give Review At Christmas Party

The Women's Fellowship of the South Church will hold its annual Christmas meeting at 8, tonight, in Friendship Hall. Prof. and Mrs. Robert Illingworth will present one of their popular duo-book reviews, "Christmas in All Tenses".

Mr. Illingworth is widely known for his lecture recitals, dramatic criticism and poetry readings. He is professor of Speech and Drama at Clark University and minister of the Barre Congregational Church. Mrs. Illingworth is a lecturer in her own right and takes the feminine lead in their reviews.

Refreshments will be served by the A.P.C. Sorority under the chairmanship of Edythe Luedke. Mrs. Robert Hatton and Mrs. Roy Hardy plan to offer a sale of crafts and home made articles after the meeting.

Urges Safety Drive By Town Employees

All town department heads have been asked to emphasize safety to their employees.

A representative of the Lumbermen's Mutual Insurance Co. told a joint meeting of department heads and town boards that Andover's "credit" in relation to workmen's compensation insurance has dropped 12 points in three years.

Dewey Dyer explained that "credit" is worked out by a special formula, involving the number of persons covered, premium paid and claims paid.

In the last year alone, he said, there were 18 claims against the policy, ranging from broken toes to eye injuries and injured backs. He stressed that a continued downward trend in the "credit" here could result in an "assigned risk", costing the taxpayers more money for premiums.

The Police and Fire Departments are not presently covered by this insurance, he explained, and have not been for two years. Thus accidents last year in both departments would have no effect on the "credit". But in answer to a question from Police Chief David Nicoll, Dyer said the firm finds there is little relationship between growth in town departments and the number of claims — because there is a larger premium figured into the formula as the number of employees grows.

He also pointed out that only four of each 10 accidents would be prevented if there were completely perfect physical conditions in a specific building. Thus, the human element enters into the problem, he continued, and human responsibility for accidents must be faced and safety factors stressed to all employees.

Selectmen Will Talk About Accepting Post Office Avenue

"It's like a cancer — it grows worse every year".

That's how Police Chief David Nicoll described Post Office ave. to a recent joint meeting of elected town boards. He urged that something be done to get the avenue accepted by the town so there would be some control over it.

The Selectmen promised to meet soon with owner Samuel Resnik to see if some agreement can't be reached to bring the avenue into town ownership. The problem has recurred during the years, as various citizens have asked that the town accept the way. But the Selectmen have always faced a problem of legality — the avenue does not conform to present standards required for street acceptance.

Chief Nicoll has many times referred to the problems created by having the avenue in private ownership. For instance, he has explained, there is no jurisdiction over vehicles using the avenue

SEMINARY LIGHTS TURNED ON TOMORROW NIGHT AT 5

The famous Christmas lights at St. Francis Seminary in West Andover will be turned on tomorrow night at 5. They will be maintained until Jan. 1, from 5 to 10:30 p.m.

For the 25th year, the Seminary will attract crowds from all over this area and from many more distant locations. Some 27,000 multi-colored lights have been used this year. A large outdoor nativity scene has been placed on the lawn and the beautifully arranged chapel with its indoor crib will be featured again this year.

and there is nothing to prevent large trucks from backing out of it into the busy square.
